Management changes at Implats

Impala Platinum Holdings Limited (Implats) advises the following management changes:

- Gert Ackerman, currently Operations Executive - Mines, has decided to leave Implats after a long and distinguished career with the company. He leaves at a time when the operations are on track to meet their targets Impala Platinum's new production projects are well underway and Marula Platinum is currently commissioning.
- As a consequence of Gert's departure, Paul Visser, currently Senior General Manager Rustenburg, will take over responsibility for mining operations.

Implats wishes Gert success with his future challenges, and is confident that the operational team built up over many years is more than capable of continuing the sound operational performance that has become expected of Impala.
